Course outline

Financial instrument standards, HKAS 32 and 39, are often viewed as the most lengthy and complicated standards among the full set of HKFRSs. More complicated, many amendments and new standard and interpretations have been continuously introduced for them, including HKFRS 7 and 9. HKFRS 9 was only issued in November 2009. The seminar aims at using a simple but comprehensive approach integrated with cases and examples to explain the application of these standards.

- Financial Instruments: Complex and Presentation Issues
