

Corporate Treasury and Foreign Currency Risk Management

About the topic

In today's globalized business world, every business is affected by exchange rate movements. Companies have to do business in a variety of currencies as they look for growth in new markets and procure goods and services internationally. Under the recent volatile environment, managing currency risk becomes more and more important, and it is just one of the key functions as a corporate treasurer.

At this seminar, Mr. Francis Ho of CLP Holdings Limited will talk about how to effectively manage foreign currency risk, as well as his extensive experience in other corporate treasury roles.
