May Moon Rescues the World Economy Order form

The Great Recession is a really bad thing where a lot of people lost their money, jobs and houses. The scary thing is that not a lot of people understood why it happened or how to fix it.

But May Moon, our heroine from May Moon and the Secrets of the CPAs, has some answers. She talked to some very smart certified public accountants who know a lot about money. She talked to the smart children of very smart certified public accountants, who learned a lot about money.

Inside this book you will find out how those children found a way to rescue the world economy – using the wisdom that only children have – and adults can learn again!

The author: Nury Vittachi is a bestselling author, columnist and teacher who writes other books for children under the name Sam Jam.

May Moon's Book of Choices Order form

How to make the right choices about money matters? It can be hard and full of temptation and traps are everywhere. Sometimes, you can rely on your built-in fairness detector, which lets you tell the difference between right and wrong instinctively. But many times making the right choice is confusing.

But May Moon, our heroine from the May Moon and the Secrets of the CPAs and May Moon Rescues the World Economy, has some advice for you. In her third adventure, she and her mother move to Sadtown, a place where everyone is depressed because they have no jobs. Determined to help, May makes a new friend, Reeder Page, and talks to some smart certified public accountants who are experts in money morals.

By making the right choices, May and the kids of Sadtown learn the morals of money and finally save the town.

The author: Nury Vittachi is a best-selling author, columnist and teacher who writes other books for children under the name Sam Jam.
