How to Extract Value from Consultants

Programme Code: S101201S
S110120S

Consultants should bring value to the organization and credit to the executives who hire them. But very often consultants fail to deliver the adequate value because of the following:

- The consultants are not working on the right problem
- The consultants doing the work are simply incompetent for the problem
- The consultants are managing the executives who hire them
- The consultants cannot carry out their work effectively in organization
- Wrong type of consultants is selected for the problem

The speaker will discuss how to overcome the above and extract value for your organization, and personally reap the rewards, when you next utilize consultants on a project.
