

How to choose the best KPIs (re-run)

Programme Code: W120329S

Where are we? Where do we want to be? How do we get there in the most cost effective way? Surely all a business has to do is answer these three questions and everything will fall into place. The reality of commerce is rather different. One of the many problems faced is the complex question of what constitutes success and how is it identified. The key will be found in having a good business plan and that plan must be both realistic and achievable.

But performance must match or exceed the plan and therefore the base data must be quantifiable. Measuring activities and output is essential to keep performance 'on track'. Everyone agrees that there is a need for information but what kind, how much and when? During this seminar delegates will explore the main differences between the KPIs that measure and those that monitor performance. This will lead to appraising the performance measures that are most useful in driving the enterprise forward.
